Reduce your re-wash

Re-wash is a main concern as it is labor intensive, costly and disrupts your laundry operations. Having the right chemistry solution in the right wash program at the right time significantly reduces re-wash levels. Our robust and reliable dispensing equipment ensures this by measuring and calibrating each dosage of chemistry into your washers time after time. IntelliLinen has the unique capability to pro-actively notify Diversey when maintenance is due to maximize uptime.

Guarantee your wash quality

Quality control is a must in your laundry to keep your guests satisfied. This requires a lot of discipline and time. Having automated consistent quality checks with actionable insights increases your overall wash quality. IntelliLinen checks the availability of chemicals, the water flow and the condition of the dispensing system to ensure the quality of wash. As soon as the quality of wash is at risk, you receive an actionable notification, for example when chemical levels are running low.

Control your costs

Cost control is crucial in running an efficient laundry. In reality, a lot of laundries have little insight in their operational costs due to lack of tools, time and availability of data. Having access to production data and costs, anytime, anywhere, will enable you to take your laundry to the next level. IntelliLinen gives you access to your personal dashboard with 24/7 laundry performance insights and spend on water, energy and chemicals. By setting thresholds, you will be notified when you overspend. Simply use the dashboard for management reporting.
